President Getting Ready for His Long Tour

WH CH ARTS TO-NIGHT

Speaks at Banquet in Boston To-night.
Final Tasks Interfere with Golf and Motoring.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 14.—This is packing up day for the president and the men in charge of his Beverly offices. While the servants at the cottage are filling trunks, Mr. Taft is dictating to Assistant Secretary Foster his speech to be delivered to-night at the banquet given him in Boston by the Chamber of Commerce. At the executive offices men are packing letter files and books into big wooden boxes and generally dismantling the rooms which have been the real summer capital.

The president will leave his cottage this afternoon at 4 o'clock in his automobile for Boston, accompanied by Capt. Butt, his aid. The clerical force will leave Beverly for Washington to-night or Wednesday morning. Secretary Carpenter will attend the Boston banquet and will go to Washington Wednesday night. Assistant Secretary Michler will arrive in Boston from Washington Wednesday morning and make the trip with the president.

Oscar Lawler, assistant attorney-general for the department of the interior, is in Beverly and will probably have a conference with the president. It is expected that the president's statement upholding Secretary of the Interior Ballinger in the Pinchot-Ballinger row will be issued to-day and that Lawler is here for a final conference on some of the legal aspects of the case.

There is no doubt that Ballinger has won out, and will be held blameless by the president from all the charges and insinuations made against him by Clifford Pinchot, both in regard to his management of the department and his past connections with the Cunningham case in Alaska. It is reported here that the statement of the president on the subject will be an exhaustive one, dealing with all the phases of the controversy.

COY OF YALE IN HOSPITAL.

Minor Operation on Foot Ball Captain.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 14.—Capt. Edward H. Coy, the prominent football captain and captain of the Yale football team, will be unable to join the Yale football squad next Monday and take charge of the preliminary 10 days' practice. Several days ago, after an examination by a surgeon in Litchfield, Conn., where Capt. Coy has been staying, he was advised to go to New York and submit to a minor operation.

Capt. Coy went on to New York several days ago and after further surgical consultation the operation was performed at a hospital in that city. While Capt. Coy might perhaps have joined the squad next Monday without serious risk, he has been advised to remain in the hospital for a few additional days to insure complete recovery.

As all present conditions are favorable he is expected to rejoin the squad at the opening of the college term in perfect health. In his absence Howard Jones, the regular coach, will have charge of the squad, which will consist of about 70 men, including the new freshmen candidates.

Paris, Sept. 14.—At Tournai yesterday Paulhan, the aviator, beat the cross country record for flying made by Captain Cody about a week ago in England. Paulhan was in the air for one hour and thirty-five minutes. Cody's record was one hour and three minutes.

A GREAT RECORD

Dr. Leonard's Internal Pile Remedy Makes 98 Per Cent. of Cures.

Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid has been tested in several thousand cases, and was successful in all but two per cent.

Hem-Roid's wonderful record is due to the fact that it is an internal remedy. The cause of piles is internal, and it is too much to expect to cure piles with ointments, suppositories or operations. Hem-Roid cures the internal cause.

Base Ball Notes.

Catcher Pat Donahue has become the king pinch hitter of the Red Sox.

Most of the fans think that the result of the championship in both leagues is now fairly certain.

Hugh Jennings has put in a bid for Lajoie in the Cleveland management team let the big fellow go.

Charley Smith, the Red Sox's latest purchase, was put in against his old team mates in the present series with the Senators and won.

Only 10 men have hit for 300 100 years running. These fellows are: Anson, Brubaker, Duff, Hamilton, "Ed" Dele, Janty, Keeler, Kelley, Burkett, Lajoie and Wagner.

Manager George Stallings was in Chicago last week to sign Jake McCormick as trainer for the Highlanders next season. McCormick was formerly trainer for the White Sox.

The Boston American team lost five points in batting last week. Carrigan leads the Red Sox division, with Lord a close second. In the American League Cobb still hangs to his honors and in the National League Wagner leads the list.

WARHOR A HARD WORKER.

New York American's Pitcher Is Serious and Capable, Always Going His Best.

"Grave and earnest in quality, manner, feeling, or disposition; not inclined to look of trifles; thoughtful, sober, earnest," is what the big book tells about the word "serious." That is Jack Warhop, the Yankee "little pitcher." For the last six days of the season he has been giving the Indians a hard time around the American League circuit, says an exchange, it might as well be told that Warhop is his right name. He is not an Indian. The only time this fellow acts like one is when he gives a base on balls, or things are not looking just right for him.

Down South some of his team mates were calling him the crab, and he is one while he is playing along in the pitcher's box. In talking about crabs, it might as well be mentioned that most of them are good ball players, and when this subject was put to Manager Stallings while the team was in the South, he remarked "it's love them." Perhaps that's the reason Warhop is making good on the pitching staff of the Yankees. He has so far, and there is no fear of him blowing up.

Warhop started out in life to earn his coffee and cakes—which is a term he uses for making a living—by applying coal to the furnace on a railroad train. Warhop has a delivery something on the style of McGinty. The difference is that with his underhand ball he has a great deal of speed with it. Schaefer and some of the other players on the Tiger bench once said that Warhop had nothing but a roundhouse curve, but Jack had been sitting down just the same. His prize, which he starts from the ground, has been a big thing for him, and at present he is one of the regular pitchers on the Yankee staff. He can also pitch overhand, but his favorite stock is the underhand ball. To watch Warhop walking out to the box one would never think that he looked strong enough to go the route, but he is as hard as nails, and is a great stickler.

A number of the star players in the American league have had nothing but praise for Warhop. It was the general gossip with such men as Cobb, Crawford, Lajoie, and Jennings that Warhop had everything which goes for the making of a good pitcher. He stays on earth until he is counted out. When the Yankees were in Detroit on their first western trip the Tigers handed the Yankees two wallops. Warhop was sent in to finish up the game, which the Yankees won. He got credit for winning the game, and when the last man hit one to him, he was first with the ball, to make sure nothing would happen. Warhop is a pitcher that the manager can rely upon any time, and he will be ready. He is in bed early and up early, and always nursing his arm.

ONLY ESKIMO

WITH PEARY

Reached Pole With One Native Companion

HENSON, ONE MARCH SOUTH

Commander Peary Stayed at the Pole 34 Hours—Many Observations Taken at 90 Degrees by the Explorer.

It appears that Peary reached the pole with but one companion—an Eskimo, Henson, the negro, and the rest of the Eskimos were left one march to the south. Peary stayed thirty-four hours at the pole and took many observations. Meanwhile the latest information is that Peary will not reach Sydney until a week from Saturday, while Cook will be in New York Sept. 21. In a dispatch to the Boston American Peary states that he has no knowledge of Cook's having given Whitney any records. There are no Cook records on the Roosevelt, he says. In an opinion, a noted French scientist gives warning that both Commander Peary and Dr. Cook might be wrong in believing they had attained the top of the earth. At the same time there was evident yesterday a disposition on both sides to await the arrival of both Peary and Cook on American soil before making further charges or presenting more evidence. Less than sixteen days will be intervening before the expected coming of both explorers, and in the meantime much of the energies of their friends will be devoted to preparing for rival demonstrations of welcome. Each claimant has his own circle of friends and cash his own club. While the Explorers' club, which includes both men in its membership, is forced to maintain, as an organization, a neutral attitude, the Arctic club, to which Dr. Cook alone belongs, is leading the case of the Brooklyn explorer, which thus far has not developed sufficiently to direct a definite attack upon Commander Peary's claims. The plans for a joint welcome to both claimants have not taken definite form. The men who would be most interested in such a move are too busy arranging for the distinct and separate receptions planned for each.

THE STORY OF THE EXPLOIT.

How Peary Attained His Goal—The Death of Marvin.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 14.—The following details of Commander Peary's journey to the north pole have been gleaned from members of the expedition on board the steamer Roosevelt.

The only men to reach the pole were Commander Peary and one Eskimo, Eging Wah by name. The other white members of the various parties that left Cape Columbia were sent back, one by one, as Peary drew nearer daily to his objective. Matthew Henson and three Eskimos, the only other members of the reduced party that made the final dash, were left one march south of the pole.

Captain Robert A. Bartlett and George Borup started Feb. 27 from Cape Columbia with a number of Eskimos and dogs on the march across the ice, heading north.

On March 1 Commander Peary left Cape Columbia with his party, consisting of seven white men, seventeen Eskimos and 138 dogs.

On March 4 Peary came up with Bartlett, who had pitched his camp at the side of a lead of water which was impossible to cross.

The combined parties had to wait until March 11, seven days, before further progress was possible. The sun was seen for the first time March 4, and an observation showed that the explorers were a short way from the eighty-fourth parallel. The supply of alcohol was running short, and Borup returned to Cape Columbia for a fresh stock.

March 14 Borup overtook Peary again and brought a supply of oil and alcohol. The division under Professor Ross G. Marvin joined Peary the same day.

At this point Professor Donald B. McMillan was sent back, his feet having been badly frozen.

Borup returned to land from 85.23 with two Eskimos. The party now consisted of 12 men, 10 sledges and 85 dogs. Bartlett was still beating out the trail two days ahead of Peary.

Marvin took observations at 85.48 and then started on his return march.

On the next march Bartlett made a record trip, covering twenty miles. This brought him to 85.88. The party now consisted of Peary, Bartlett, Matthew Henson, the colored man, who has been Peary's personal assistant on so many of his expeditions; the Eskimos, seven sledges and sixty dogs; and the journey northward was resumed. The ice was perfectly level as far as the eye could see.

Bartlett took the observation on the 88th parallel on April 2, and then reluctantly returned, leaving Peary, Henson and four Eskimos, with provisions for forty days, to make the final dash to the pole.

This reduced party started the morning of April 3. The men walked that day for ten hours and made twenty miles. They slept near the eighty-ninth parallel.

While crossing a stretch of young ice three hundred yards wide the sledge broke through. It was saved, but two of the Eskimos had narrow escapes from drowning.

The ice was still good and the dogs were in great shape. They made as high as twenty-five miles a day.

The next observation was made at 89.25. The next two marches were made in a dense fog. The sun was sighted on the third march, and an observation showed 89.87.

The pole was reached April 6, and a series of observations were taken at 90 degrees.

series of observations were taken at 90 degrees.

The pole appeared as a frozen sea. Peary tried to take a sounding, but got no bottom at 1,500 fathoms.

Peary stayed at the pole for thirty-four hours, and then started on his return journey the afternoon of April 7.

On the return the marches were continuous and Peary and the Eskimos suffered greatly from fatigue.

On April 23, the party reached the vertical edge of the land ice, west of Cape Columbia. The Eskimos were delighted to reach land, and the party slept for two days. They repaired their sledges, rested the dogs, and, resuming the journey, reached the Roosevelt April 27.

Marvin left Peary on the way up on Friday, March 26, to return to the ship. He had with him two Eskimos and seven sledges. The story of the professor's death was obtained from one of the Eskimos. April 10 Marvin was forty-five miles from Cape Columbia. He started out that morning walking ahead. The Eskimos were delayed in packing the sledges, a fact that permitted Marvin to get a good start on them. When the Eskimos arrived at an open lead they noticed that the young ice was broken about twenty-five yards out, and they saw what looked like a dead man's body floating in the center of the lead. Owing to the treacherous condition of the ice, the Eskimos could not venture out. They returned to the Roosevelt and reported. Captain Bartlett then went back to the point where the professor had been, given by eminent physicians to be leprous. Early, at the time his name was dropped from the rolls, was receiving $72 a month on account of total disability. He was recently examined by a medical board in New York. They found no skin eruptions or any disability.

A PRINCE'S PLANS.

Son of Greek King "Contemplates Marrying Miss Drexel."

Berlin, Sept. 14.—The Vienna correspondent of the Tageblatt announces that Prince Christopher, youngest son of the King of Greece, contemplates marrying Margaritha Drexel, whom he met at the banquet given in celebration of the betrothal of Prince Miguel of Braganza and Anita Stewart.

Miss Margaritha A. Drexel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel of Philadelphia. The family is at present living abroad.

FRENCH HIDES COMING HERE.

They Are Rushed to America in Great Quantities.

Paris, Sept. 14.—French exports to the United States, instead of diminishing, have increased rapidly under the new tariff. The total for the month of August shows an increase of 76 per cent. over that of August, 1906.

The greatest increase was in hides, which are being rushed over to America in such quantities as to alarm French manufacturers, who foresee that America may monopolize the tanning industry and oblige them to import their leather.

North Newton, Samuel B. Runnstrater, James S. Pierce, George Wetel, John R. Squire, Warren H. Kale, John C. Hann, Lewis H. Young, N. R. Milligan, Thomas A. Smith, George W. Whipple, John V. Walden, A. H. Aeady, William L. Kelly and O. C. Starr.

The men are all prominent and many of them have held political offices.

CURES PIMPLES QUICKLY

Simple Remedy That Soon Clears Skin of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past D. E. Davis has done the biggest business he ever had in any one article in selling Hokaia, the skin food that has won so many friends in Barre.

It has been found to be an absolute cure, not only for all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, sealy scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, etc., but for the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema, and salt rheum. There has yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Hokaia does not heal, and its action is so instantaneous that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince everyone of its merits, D. E. Davis will sell a liberal sized jar for 25¢; larger size 50¢. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

MONUMENT TO VERRAZZANO.

Italians Say He First Found Hudson River.

New York, Sept. 14.—Ground was broken yesterday for the foundation of a monument to Giovanni De Verrazzano, the Italian explorer who, his countrymen say, discovered the Hudson river nearly a quarter of a century before Hendrick Hudson. The ceremony occurred in Battery Park, east of the aquarium. In his address, Chevalier Charles Barzotti, president of the memorial committee, said:

"The ground on which this monument is to be erected is doubtless the same over which Verrazzano trod in 1492. After the discovery of America by Columbus in 1492 the Cabots—John and Sebastian—swept the coast of the New World, but in 1499 Verrazzano, the pathfinder, came to New York and saw the Hudson river, even if he did not explore it. To prove the facts we have an old engraving made from an oil painting of the Verrazzano family, which became extinct in Florence, in 1700. Verrazzano's brother, Jerome, made a map of his brother's discovery in 1499, and that is still in existence. The New York Geographical society has in its possession a copper globe of the earth made in 1547 and purchased but a few years ago, in which it shows the Hudson river and the lands adjacent and which is labelled on the map 'Verrazzano or Galia.' This globe was discovered in an old Spanish convent, and its authenticity is undoubted.

"American Consul Greene, who held a post at Florence from 1820 to 1850, was a firm believer in the claims of Verrazzano family and investigated many old Italian documents and has furnished much of the data that is now in the possession of the New York Geographical society and which prove conclusively that Verrazzano discovered the Hudson river eighty-four years before the arrival of the historic Hollander whose name the river now bears."

DEPEW CLINGS TO NEW YORK.

He Has No Idea of Going to California.

Paris, Sept. 14.—Chauncey M. Depew, who is at present in this city, has been greatly annoyed by the reports published in the United States that he intends to move to California and live with a nephew, C. M. Depew. Mr. Depew will open his house in Washington Dec. 1, when he will resume his senatorial duties. "New York has treated me pretty well for seventy-five years," Senator Depew said yesterday, "and I intend to round out the century on the banks of the Hudson."

EARLY OFFICIALLY CURED.

His Name Taken From Rolls of Leper Colony.

Washington, Sept. 14.—John E. Early, the leper, so-called, has been struck from the rolls of the colony, as he has been found to be entirely free from any disease, having recovered from the skin eruption which was declared by eminent physicians to be leprosy. Early, at the time his name was dropped from the rolls, was receiving $72 a month on account of total disability. He was recently examined by a medical board in New York. They found no skin eruptions or any disability.
